Disclaimer

This directory presents basic information, in simple language with illustrations, to support manufacturing companies in finding suppliers in Cambodia. For the development of this directory, the commissioned research firm conducted face-to-face interviews with SME managers to gather information and collect sample pictures. The information compiled was self-reported by each company.

Foreword

Small and Medium Enterprises (SMEs) are very critical to Cambodia's economy. They play an important role in economic growth, job creation, and prosperity. By 2017, around 160,000 SMEs had registered with the Ministry of Industry & Handicraft, creating more than one million jobs.

The SME landscape in Cambodia is diverse. While some have already embarked on growth, innovation, and internationalization strategies that take advantage of emerging market opportunities available to Cambodian businesses, others are just starting their journeys to improve their capabilities and are facing various challenges. Many still lack the capacity, resources and connections to actively participate in the global economy. Stepping up our efforts in SME development today is key to strengthen Cambodia's long-term competitiveness, as rapid technological advances in industry 4.0 are disrupting business models and transforming industries.

The large inflow of foreign investment into Cambodia over the past decade has also created new opportunities for SMEs to access international markets. Many of these foreign investors are already plugged into the international marketplace and by joining their supply chains, SMEs in Cambodia can benefit from exposure to the new technology and modern management practices and as a result, increase their competitiveness. For many SMEs, connecting with foreign investors is an important first step to get accustomed to international business culture and market demand, before becoming exporters in their own right.

The Government of the Kingdom of Cambodia is committed to support SME development. As highlighted in our main policy documents, the Industrial Development Policy 2015-2025 and the Fourth Rectangular Strategy 2018-2023, Programs for Country Partnership 2018-2023, our strategic goals are to: (i) strengthen the development and modernization of SMEs, (ii) promote entrepreneurship, (iii) increase domestic value addition, (iv) connect SMEs with foreign investors, and (v) enhance exports and participation in global value chains.

As such, the government will actively support SMEs to upgrade, overcome barriers, and harness opportunities created through international market access. This directory is an effort to facilitate linkages between foreign investment and SMEs in Cambodia by providing information on 44 existing and potential suppliers of intermediate inputs to multi-national enterprises operating in Cambodia

The Ministry of Industry & Handicraft is grateful to the Government of Japan and the International Finance Corporation for their technical and financial support in preparing this directory. I hope it will assist Cambodia's SMEs to supply their products to multi-national enterprises and prove to be a useful resource and contributor to SME growth and economic development in our beloved country.

Kitti Setha Pandita CHAM Prasidh
Senior Minister
Minister of Industry & Handicrafts
Kingdom of Cambodia

Preface

Dear Reader,

The development of the manufacturing sector is vital for the long-term economic prosperity of Cambodia. It is already a major contributor to economic growth, employs a large labor force and generates export earnings. However, this development cannot be sustained in the long run without active participation from local based supporting industries. While supporting industries make a broad range of products and take production steps individually, they cover segments along the supply chain that are an important backbone of any competitive industrial cluster.

In Cambodia, most of the large manufacturers are foreign direct investment (FDI) ones. A recent study on linkages between FDI and the domestic economy by International Finance Corporation (IFC) found these foreign investors often lacked necessary information on potential suppliers in Cambodia. In response to these findings and in line with our broader policy goals, the General Department of Small and Medium Enterprises and Handicrafts (Ministry of Industry and Handicrafts) has published this Directory on Manufacturing Supporting Industries – the first of its kind in Cambodia.

This user-friendly directory features 44 high-potential SMEs which are among the leading companies supplying manufacturing FDIs in Cambodia. They are categorized in five groups: (1) Packaging, (2) Printing & Labelling, (3) Rubber & Plastics, (4) Steel Processing & Metals, and (5) Others. It highlights key information on each supplier and paints an illustrative picture of sample products and customer references.

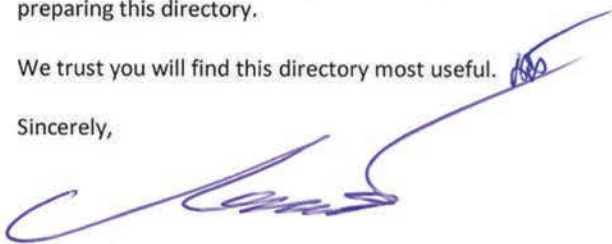

This directory provides a platform for SMEs operating in supporting industries to exhibit their products and services, learn about the activities of others and generate necessary exposure. It aims to bring producers and potential customers closer together to identify opportunities for sales and business linkages. Hence, it will also be a useful resource for procurement managers of manufacturing companies in Cambodia to screen and contact potential suppliers that operate in their vicinity.

The Royal Government of Cambodia recognizes the importance of supporting industries in contributing to rapid industrialization. As Director General of SME promotion, my intention is to nurture growth in SMEs through identifying enterprises with strong potential to export, develop new products, link to multi-national enterprises, connect to value chains and regional production networks. This will increase industry dynamism and achieve greater economic goals.

I thank the Government of Japan and IFC (World Bank Group) for their financial and technical support in preparing this directory.

We trust you will find this directory most useful.

Sincerely,

H.E Dr. Laim Kimleng
